

EXPERIMENT 1

BAD UI AND GOOD UI

Bad UI Design

Bad Design – Left Side (Drawbacks)

No Visual Hierarchy

- Profile name, email, and other details appear with equal importance
- Users cannot quickly identify key information

Plain & Unattractive Layout

- Excessive empty space makes the screen look unfinished
- Lack of background variation or visual separation
- Overall interface feels dull and boring

Poor Section Differentiation

- Account and personal information are not clearly separated
- No icons, dividers, or cards to guide user attention

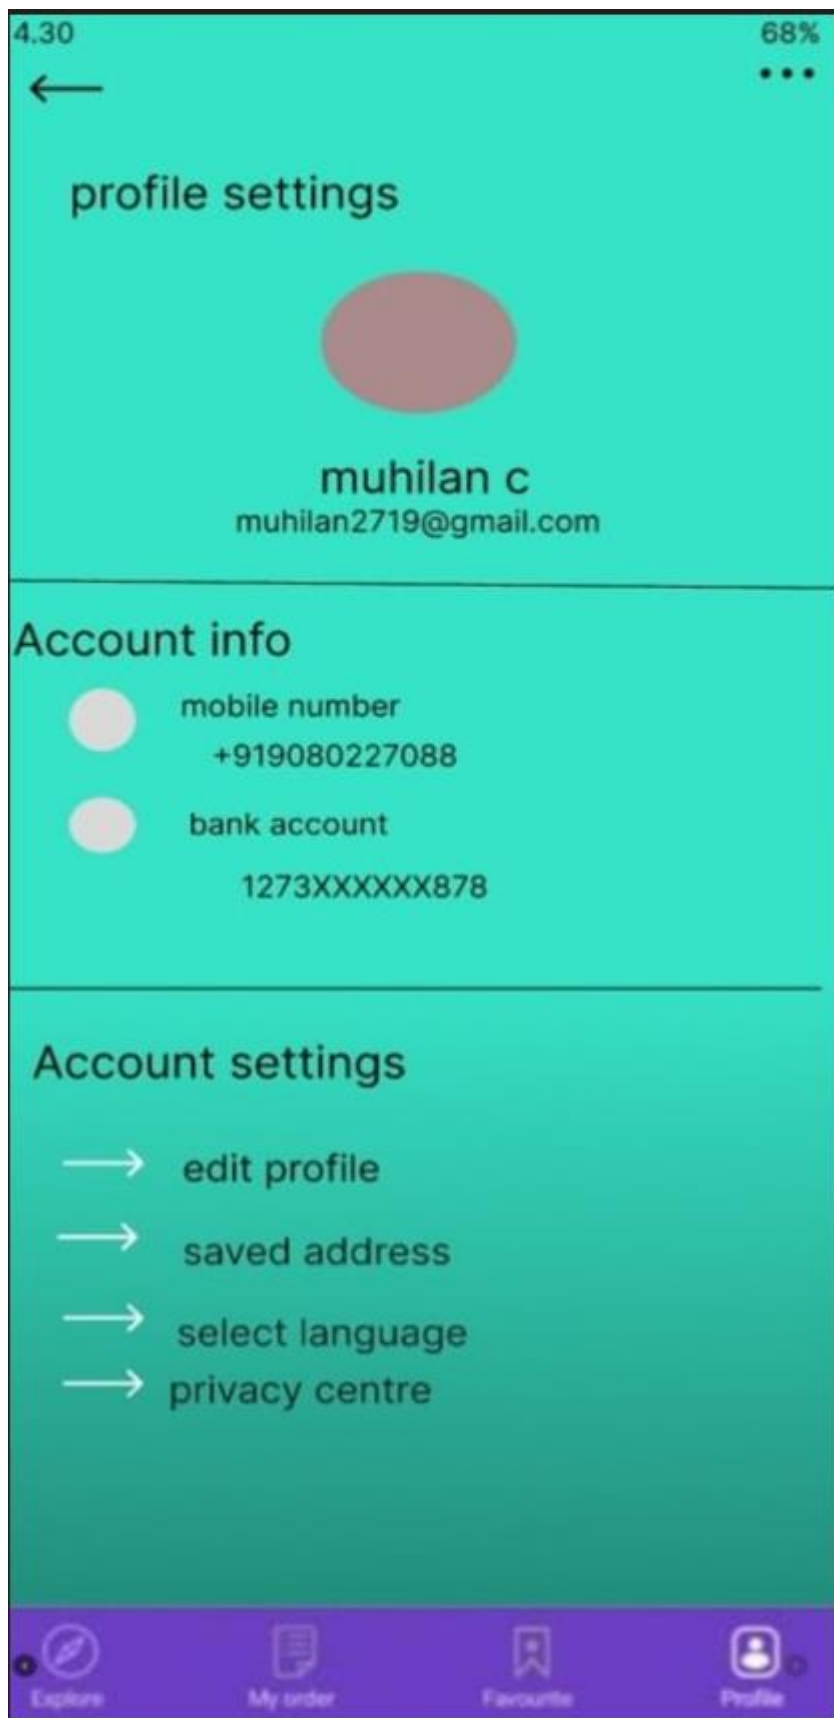

Low User Engagement

- Navigation options are not clearly visible
- Important actions are difficult to find or unclear

Weak Identity Representation

- Profile image area looks simple and unappealing
- Design lacks personalization and character

Good UI Design

Improved Design – Right Side (Enhancements)

Clear Visual Hierarchy

- Profile image, user name, and email are prominently highlighted
- Section titles are visually distinct and easy to recognize

Better Use of Color & Background

- Use of color improves overall visual appeal
- Different sections are clearly separated
- Screen feels modern and engaging

Improved Readability & Structure

- Account information is neatly grouped
- Proper spacing and alignment improve clarity
- Content is easy to scan and understand

Better Navigation & Usability

- Clear options such as Edit Profile and Saved Address
- Arrow icons indicate clickable and interactive elements

Strong User Experience

- Bottom navigation bar improves accessibility
- Design feels professional, reliable, and user-friendly
